Long Questions

1. Explain in details the "the philosophical base" of "social service"?

Philosophical Base of Social Service

The philosophical base of social service means the basic ideas, beliefs, and thinking behind helping people. It explains why we help others and how we should help them.
Social service is not just helping people randomly. It is based on strong principles that guide social workers.

1. Humanitarianism
Humanitarianism means showing kindness, love, and care for all humans. It teaches that every person is important and deserves help in difficult times.

- It teaches us to help people who are suffering
- It focuses on reducing pain and problems
- It does not see religion, caste, or status
- It promotes kindness and sympathy in society

Example:
Helping flood victims or poor people without expecting anything in return.

2. Social Justice
Social justice means fairness in society. It ensures that all people get equal rights and opportunities.

- Everyone should get equal rights
- No discrimination (gender, religion, class)
- Resources should be shared fairly
- Laws should treat everyone equally

Example:
Providing equal education opportunities to boys and girls.

3. Equality
Equality means all people are equal and should be treated in the same way.

- No one is superior or inferior
- Everyone deserves respect
- Equal chances in jobs, education, and life
- No discrimination in any situation

Example:
Giving the same job opportunities to both men and women.

4. Dignity of Human Life
Every human being is valuable and deserves respect.

- Every person deserves respect
- No one should be insulted or ignored
- Even poor people have dignity
- People should be treated with kindness

Example:
Treating patients or poor people with respect and kindness.

5. Service to Humanity
This is the main goal of social service. It means helping others for the betterment of society.
- Helping others is the top priority
- Focus on improving people's lives
- Work for community welfare
- Support weak and needy people

Example:
NGOs providing free food, education, and healthcare.

6. Freedom and Human Rights
Every person has basic rights.
- Right to education
- Right to health
- Right to freedom

Social service works to protect these rights

7. Moral and Ethical Values
Social service is based on ethics (good behavior).
- Honesty
- Responsibility
- Respect
- Fairness

Social workers must follow these values.

The philosophical base of social service gives direction and purpose. It helps create a society where people live with respect, equality, justice, and care for each other.

2. Enlist the main social problems of Pakistan and explain at least three in details?

Social Problems of Pakistan
Pakistan is a developing country and faces many social problems. These problems affect people's lives and slow down development.

Major Social Problems
- Poverty
- Illiteracy
- Unemployment
- Overpopulation
- Corruption
- Gender inequality
- Lack of healthcare
- Child labor

1. Poverty
Poverty means lack of basic needs like food, shelter, and clothing. It is one of the biggest problems in Pakistan.

Causes:
- Unemployment
- Low income
- Lack of education
- Inflation

Effects:
- Poor health
- Malnutrition
- Crime increase
- Low standard of living

Example:
Many families in rural areas cannot afford proper food or education.

2. Illiteracy

Illiteracy means inability to read and write. It is a major obstacle in development.

Causes:
- Lack of schools
- Poverty
- Lack of awareness
- Gender discrimination

Effects:
- Fewer job opportunities
- Lack of awareness
- Slow national development

Example:
People who are not educated cannot get good jobs.

3. Unemployment

Unemployment means people are ready to work but cannot find jobs.

Causes:
- Lack of industries
- Poor education system
- Overpopulation

Effects:
- Poverty
- Frustration
- Crime and social issues

Example:
Many educated youth cannot find jobs after graduation.

Other Problems:

Overpopulation:
Too many people and limited resources create pressure on food, jobs, and services.

Corruption:
Misuse of power for personal benefit, which weakens the system.

Gender Inequality:
Women do not get equal rights in education and jobs.

Child Labor:
Children are forced to work instead of going to school.

Solutions:

- Improve education system
- Create job opportunities
- Control population growth
- Reduce corruption through strict laws
- Promote equality and awareness

Social problems are major obstacles in development. If these problems are solved, Pakistan can become a strong and developed country.

3. Explain the role of "World Health Organization (WHO)" in details?

The World Health Organization is an international organization that works to improve health all over the world. It helps different countries provide better medical facilities and protect people from diseases. WHO also guides governments on how to keep their people healthy and safe.

1. Disease Control and Prevention

WHO plays a very important role in controlling diseases. It helps countries stop the spread of dangerous diseases like polio, malaria, COVID-19, and tuberculosis.
WHO provides:

- Guidelines to control diseases
- Medicines and vaccines
- Expert advice to doctors and governments

Example:
During COVID-19, WHO guided countries about safety measures like wearing masks, washing hands, and social distancing. This helped reduce the spread of the virus.

2. Health Awareness

WHO spreads awareness among people so they can take care of their health.
It educates people about:

- Cleanliness and hygiene
- Healthy food and nutrition
- Importance of clean water
- Exercise and healthy lifestyle

WHO runs campaigns and programs to teach people simple habits that can prevent diseases.
Example:
Handwashing campaigns help prevent infections and improve public health.

3. Vaccination Programs

Vaccination is one of the most important services provided by WHO. It helps protect children and adults from dangerous diseases.
WHO:

- Works with governments to reach all people

Example:
WHO supported polio vaccination campaigns in Pakistan, which helped reduce polio cases.

4. Emergency Response

WHO provides help during emergencies such as:

- Floods
- Earthquakes
- Disease outbreaks

In such situations, WHO sends:

- Medical teams
- Medicines and equipment
- Emergency support

This quick response helps save lives and control the situation.

5. Research and Development

WHO conducts research to improve healthcare.
It works on:

- Finding new treatments
- Studying diseases
- Improving medical methods

WHO collects data from different countries and uses it to understand health problems better.

6. Policy Making and Guidance

WHO helps countries make strong health policies.
It guides governments to:

- Build better hospitals
- Improve healthcare systems
- Train doctors and nurses

This helps countries provide better medical services to their people.

7. Support to Developing Countries

WHO gives special support to developing countries.
It helps by:

- Providing financial support
- Giving technical knowledge
- Improving healthcare facilities

This support helps poor countries improve their health systems.

The World Health Organization plays a very important role in making the world healthier. It controls diseases, spreads awareness, provides vaccines, and helps countries improve their healthcare systems. Because of WHO, millions of people live safer and healthier lives.
